

Rush & Lux Wealth Management

of Davenport & Company LLC

Ralph Rush Jr.

Senior Vice President - Investments

Ralph began his financial career as a financial advisor in 1983. In 1990, he left Merrill Lynch to join Davenport & Company and is now Senior Vice President–Investments. Ralph specializes in serving individuals and families offering a wide range of planning services and investment solutions. He seeks to help his clients achieve their life goals with custom investment advice and exceptional personal service. By taking the time to understand his client’s goals, he can offer planning and investment advice that is highly personalized and tailored to address their financial goals and objectives, risk tolerance and time horizon.

Ralph earned a degree in English Literature with a minor in Music from Rutgers University. He went on to obtain a MMED degree from the State College of New Jersey. In his free time, he enjoys playing music and golf. Ralph and his wife, Lynn, have two adult daughters.

Tyler Lux

Financial Advisor

Prior to joining Davenport in 2024, Tyler spent 20 years working with S&P Global (formerly SNL Financial), and held various roles across the organization while working in London and Hong Kong. He returned to home to Charlottesville in 2015. In his most recent role, he was responsible for cultivating and managing customer relationships with Investment Banking and Private Equity firms.

Tyler graduated from Hampden-Sydney College with a B.A. in Economics. Outside of work, he enjoys playing golf, coaching little league baseball and spending time with his wife, Lolly, and their two children.

Carter Schotta

Client Service Associate

Prior to joining Davenport in May 2025, Carter was in customer relations at CarMax, and in sales at Wine & Country Life. She utilizes her background in customer service and relationship management to assist the group in providing proactive, individualized and timely support to clients.

Active in the community, Carter has previously served in roles with Martha's Market – The Women's Committee, UVA Children's Hospital, and St. Anne's Belfield. Outside of work, she enjoys working out, going on walks with her English Bulldog, Darla Sue, and spending time on the water paddle boarding and kayaking. When she is not on the move, she enjoys relaxing by watching lacrosse, basketball and football. Carter has three adult children. Her son played lacrosse at the University of Richmond and her daughter played at Virginia Tech and UNC Charlotte.
