

George W. Askew

Managing Director

As demonstrated by nearly four decades of industry experience, George has had a passion for investments and helping others throughout his career. Prior to joining Davenport & Company in 1990, he worked in several firms including Wheat First Securities (now Wells Fargo Advisors). He holds his Series 7, 63, 65, and 24 registrations and is licensed to offer long-term care, long-term disability and life insurance.

George graduated from Virginia Tech with a Bachelor of Science degree in Finance and Business Administration in 1981. He and his wife Lynn raised their two children in Newport News, and now enjoy their dog and many grandchildren. When not at work, George can either be found at work in his backyard or spending weekends with the family at the beach in Duck, North Carolina.
